Images of Research 2020 – Commendation for Amal Almutairi

To whom it may concern,

In June 2020, the Doctoral Academy at the University of Dundee ran a competition for postgraduate researchers called 'Images of Research'. Entrants were challenged to portray their research in a single image along with a 50 word description. Marks were awarded for creativity, accessibility of the entry for a non-specialist audience, a strong relationship between the image and the entrant's research, and the overall impact of the image.

I am pleased to confirm that Amal Almutairi received a commendation from the judge panel in the category 'Understanding and improving health and wellbeing' for her entry Kangaroo Care, which focused on skin-to-skin contact between an infant and their parents.
